Bathrooms need fans for the elimination of hot, damp air. Some think bathrooms also need speakers, to pipe music while one does their business. Homewerks suggests your customers combine both needs with Bluetooth Bath Fan.

The name says it all, really. The fan connects with most Bluetooth-enabled devices (up to 9m distance) to stream the user's choice of music, with the connected device also handling volume control.

Meanwhile according to Homewerks the fan is both powerful (90 CFM) and quiet (1.5 Sones), so one should be able to listen to the sounds over the vent hum. An included wall switch allows fan- or speaker-only operation, and since the speaker is integrated with the fan wiring it needs no recharging.

The Bluetooth Bath Fan is available now.
