

Working to link the worlds of professional audio and systems integration, the AudioForum@ISE conference will be taking place on 9th February, the day before ISE 2015 opens.

audioforum @ISE 2015

Organised by ISE media partner Connessioni, the full-day event will bring together a selection of audio experts to present and discuss audio optimisation in different sizes and types of venue.

The focus of the full day educational event will be digital tools helping audio designers and systems integrators to perfect design audio systems, installations, speakers and components. Emphasis will be given to exploring the tools and techniques used for the design and installation of audio systems in the built environment, plus it will also focus on simulation software, measurement instruments and design tools.

Audio Forum@ISE is geared towards professionals, companies and anyone interested in deepening their knowledge and discovering the latest technologies and tools in the audio world. It will also be an important moment of dialogue and networking between the worlds of system integration and the more specific pro-audio world which will meet “around the same table” of knowledge.

This will be the second AudioForum event taking place at ISE but is AudioForum's 5th edition--after the editions held in Milan (2013, during SIEC Convention), Amsterdam (ISE 2014), Mumbai (InfoComm India 2014) and again Milan (in cooperation with SIEC2014, the Italian event for Systems Integration).

AudioForum@ISE Unites Pro Audio & Integrators

Written by Roger Douglas
03. 02. 2015

Go AudioForum@ISE