

B&W Zeppelin Launches in White

Written by Marco Attard
20. 07. 2016

Bowers & Wilkins announces a new colour option for the Zeppelin Wireless speaker-- white, making it ideal for Apple fans wanting a speaker matching their iDevices.

The white Zeppelin Wireless remains identical to its black predecessor. It carries 5 drive units and features 2 double dome speakers (as found in the B&W CM series hi-fi speakers). The two mid-range drivers benefit from FST technology, as well as a drive unit design derived from the flagship 800 series Diamond.

Providing deep bass even at high volumes is a large 6.5-inch subwoofer with an ultra-long voice coil. Further boosting audio is a reinforced cabinet complete with glass fibre ribs providing strength at all right places.

The Zeppelin Wireless white is available from August 2016.

Go B&W Zeppelin Wireless