Waterfall Audio presents a speaker mounting system at ISE 2017-- one designed to simplify the installation of the company's speakers, as well as bring cost savings.

The system has a quick mounting and adjusting function for the front part of a cinema system. A modular rail design helps custom installers, while cable management is integrated into the mounting system. The total depth of the structure is 25cm (including both rails and speakers).

Waterfall Audio says the mounting system can be assembled by one person using just a drill and a screwdriver. It should hit the market by March 2017.
