Wrensilva announces a smaller and lighter take on the record console-- the Loft, a console built out of N. American walnut able to stream records directly to Sonos speaker systems.

The Loft features modern internals inside retro stylings, with an OA2 precision Gimbal tonearm and Ortofon 2m Red cartridge paired with a 300W per channel Bang & Olufsen ICEpower classD amplifier. The turntable is fully decoupled belt-driven, while wifi connectivity allows one to push whatever vinyl is being played to a whole-home Sonos system.

For customers lacking a Sonos system Wrensilva also offers a bundle with a 2-way bass reflex monitor speakers featuring a 6.5-inch cone woofer and and a 1-inch dome tweeter. A 3.5mm jack is also included.

The Wrensilva Loft is available now.
