

OK, the Bathroom Also Needs a Digital Control

Written by Bob Snyder
01. 08. 2008

Unique Automation wants to bring full automation to the bathroom. Their new Bathomatic is an automatic digital bath management system which can be operated by a wall-mounted touch-control panel, via LAN or automation systems.

Micro-processor controlled, it fills a bath to exact depth and temperature regardless of the temperature and pressure of the incoming water. It maintains water temperature, and adds fragrances/bubbles as required. It is suitable for installation to any new or existing bath.

Go Bathomatic