

Vision's new Tilt2 is a simple table-mounted aluminium chassis which allows Techconnect modules to be fitted to a table . It has a thin aluminium bezel and blends into modern office furniture.

It comes with a Techconnect surround which can accommodate up to five modules.

The surround can be fitted near the surface for easy access to the modules, or recessed so that the lid can be closed with cables still plugged in.

The chassis can be cut for shallow floor-mount applications. This product, says the maker, costs barely more than a wall mount backbox, and strengthens the Techconnect product range.
