At CEDIA, DF Solutions will showcase its iDyl multi-room hard-disk based digital media server, as well as demonstrating its Blu-Ray next-generation server. Sitting at the heart of a digital home, the iDyl is a combo DVD/video server, and (up to) 17-output audio server, with enhanced functionality. With up to 17 independent audio feeds, the iDyl provides a CD jukebox in every room of the home. Independent multi-room video is achieved by installing one or more Video Nodes.

Bill Gates patented his own technology to do this in his own Gates-By-the-Lake House, but with iDyl you can create slideshows for distribution to multiple video displays. A digital picture frame in your hallway could feature a different show every day.

And, of course, you can synchronise your iPod directly with the iDyl.
