brite-View says its HDelight now also supports the iPad 2, as users can pair the tablet and its digital AV adapter with the device.

Once paired, the iPad 2 gets HD mirroring on the HDTV set, with all its apps and games.

Released last year, the HDelight turns a HDMI-ready PC into a wireless HTPC, using WHDI to stream what the company says is uncompressed HD video without any buffer or stutter from up to 30' of distance.
