Written by Bob Snyder
19. 05. 2008

Samsung and Armani release designer HDTVs this summer. Giorgio Armani recently unveiled a 1930s-inspired line of home furnishings at the Milan International Furniture Fair, and he also showed off the upcoming Armani/Samsung 100Hz Full HDTV.

Re-runs of fashion shows were playing on the television which includes a stylish remote control, and a four-mode lighted power switch that customizes the Armani and Samsung logos. Those living in Europe, Korea, and Russia will soon be able to buy the designer Armani 46-inch TV, or a 52-inch display if they wait a bit longer.

Go Armani and Samsung HDTV