

16-inch Waterproof TV From Aquavision

Written by Marco Attard
26. 11. 2014

Waterproof TV maker Aquavision launches adds a 16-inch panel to its product portfolio-- the Genesis kit, consisting of an LED screen, Frameless MirrorVision glass, power supply, waterproof remote and Sky Link IR kit.

Suitable for both residential and commercial applications, the small TV features a Freeview DVB-T tuner, 2 HDMI inputs, analogue AV connections, 2x10W audio amplifier and speaker connections.

According to the company the waterproof finish makes the screen suitable for any environment-- although the mirror glass' 60/40 split in favour of reflectivity makes it perfect for bathrooms-- and the frameless design gives a flush finish once tiled up.

The glass is also heated to prevent misting up in steamy wetroom environments.

The Genesis kit is available now.

Go Aquavision