

Chief Improves Projector Mounts

Written by Marco Attard
26. 08. 2015

---

Chief follows customer feedback as it launches upgraded versions of the all-in-one KITEC projector kits, promising stronger construction, enhanced aesthetics and upgraded cable management.

Designed to meet the needs of EMEA installers, the kits include a security RSMEU Mini Elite mount, 3 adjustable-length columns and a ceiling plate. Customers can order each part separately or as part of a kit.

Reinforced ceiling plate, telescoping joint and mount construction allows for more stable installations, while the ceiling plate features a decorative tile ring for a polished ring. Chief also expands cable management to provide more room for power, audio, network and signal cables, with integrated cable inlays allowing clean cable management and quick access for servicing.

“Our partners have been invaluable to the development process,” the company says. “They shared what they liked about the new designs and what could be even better. This was essential to guiding design improvements to fit their needs.”

Go Chief Enhances Projector Mount Solution