Registrations open for what promises to be the biggest AV and IT systems integration trade show yet-- ISE 2014 takes place on 4-6 February at the Amsterdam RAI.

The 2013 show hosted around 45000 attendees and over 900 exhibitors.

Launched in 2004, ISE is the annual marketplace for the professional AV and electronic system integration industries, with a focus on not only business but also networking, educational and technological innovation.

As in the past 7 years ISE 2014 takes place at the Amsterdam RAI, and should attract professionals from every link of the systems integration value-chain, including manufacturers, distributors, dealers, contractors and consultants. It also draws end customers from fields as diverse as education, sports, corporate facilities, hospitality and live events.
