CEDIA opens attendee registration for its 2015 Expo, the custom-install show exclusively for the residential systems market hosted at the Kay Bailey Hutchinson Convention Center, Dallas.

The show promises to be the "centre of the global showcase of the future home experience," and provides attendees with a chance to check out the latest home AV trends, as well as partake in CEDIA training and networking events.

CEDIA members can access the tradeshow for free, and early bird offers are also available.

The show takes place on 14-17 October 2015.
