

CEDIA 2017 Registration Open

Written by Marco Attard
06. 06. 2017

Registration for CEDIA 2017 is officially open, with the show offering attendees concentrated access to the new products, breakthrough innovations and targeted training.

"CEDIA 2017 brings together the best of everything our industry has to offer; world-class CEDIA training and certification, countless opportunities to network and make valuable connections, and a robust show floor brimming with the latest and greatest solutions for the residential technology space," CEDIA says. "Our market continues to expand exponentially and attending CEDIA 2017 is the best way to stay ahead of the ever-changing technology curve."

Hosted at the San Diego Convention Centre from 5-9 September 2017, CEDIA 2017 has the largest selection of CEDIA training to date-- 150 sessions, 76 of which are new. Tuesday sees a full line-up of workshops and sessions, including the COI Train the Trainer course, Rack Building and Wiring Fundamentals, Home Cinema for Designers workshop and more. Attendees can also gain product-specific knowledge directly from manufacturers at Manufacturer Product Training.

Further means for attendees to connect and network with industry thought-leaders and peers include the opening keynote with Dave Evans, the CEDIA Awards Celebration on the USS Midway, CEDIA Talks and the free Open Sessions, with panelists weighing on topics like "The Great Dongle Debate."

On show are 500 exhibiting companies offering innovations and exciting new products for the residential technology space.

Early bird savings of 25% off training and registration is available until 14 July. CEDIA members

CEDIA 2017 Registration Open

Written by Marco Attard
06. 06. 2017

get free access to the tradeshow floor, as well as savings on training, including the CEDIA training pass. CEDIA member housing is also open, with non-member housing opening on 20 June.

Go CEDIA Expo 2017