Savant launches the Ambassador Program-- designed to identify and recognise installation firms for their knowledge and proficiency across key product categories from the companies.

Ambassadors are also recognised for a supportive role leading to product design enhancements and evaluating new technologies, including participation in an extensive Beta program. The program starts from April 2018 with a redesign of the Savant website allowing homeowners and building professionals to search for a Savant Ambassador near them.

Savant Ambassadors not only get highlighted on the website, but also get support from the company with early access to new products and software, as well as priority technical assistance. In addition, Savant Ambassadors receive one year of HTA certification dues to further distinguish themselves from the competition.

Installers interested to learn more about the program should contact their Savant sales representative to get started.
