Claire introduces a wifi HD video doorbell to the ClareVision+ line of IP surveillance cameras-- the Clare Video Doorbell, a slim unit installers can integrate with home automation systems using just 2 wires.

The Video Doorbell has an SD card slot for storage (up to 128GB), and is set to record on motion. It auto-configures for remote viewing via free ClareVision+ iOS and Android app, and the camera functions as a stand-alone device able to replace virtually any doorbell.

Users receive instant mobile alerts whenever the doorbell detects motion, and it can be integrated with a ClareVision+ and 3rd party NVRs for use multi-camera systems via the ONVIF standard. Installation promises to be simple, using just 2 wires and no batteries or transformers required.

The Claire Video Doorbell is shipping now.
