Global IP intercom provider 2N is the latest Crestron integration partner-- bringing a firmware update to 2N video intercom door stations adding compliance with Crestron Rava SIP intercom and phone technology.

As a result, 2N intercoms integrate intuitively with Crestron TSW-x60 touchscreens, providing a premium video intercom able to seamlessly integrate with 3rd party electronic door locks. The integration includes support for all 2N IP models, with Quick Actions to unlock 3rd party electronic door locks, turn on porch lights, open gates and more.

Also added are intercom-integrated access control, video monitoring on up to 16 touchscreens in the home, 2-way intercom calls (with a mute while on call option), support for wide-angle colour cameras with CCTV link and mobile device access via the 2N app. The 2N firmware update automatically recognises 2N video intercom door stations while using Crestron touchscreens running on Pyng OS 2, allowing deployment without need for complex programming. A custom programming option is available for more advanced functionality.

"To establish a key partnership with Crestron in the field of IP door intercoms is a special moment for 2N," the company says. "Together, we can address the increased demand for integrated solutions for smart living in the residential type of installation. The partnership supports our ambition to contribute to a smarter, safer and innovative living."
