

ELAN, the home control brand of Nortek Security & Control (NSC), announces a range of surveillance cameras, an NVR and a selection of compatible accessories are on show at ISE 2020.

The range features built-in advanced IntelliVision analytics, allowing for more precise person and vehicle classification, as well as personalised information alerts to homeowners. Deep software integration allows for a single security system complete with advanced privacy features.

The range consists of six outdoor IP cameras, one eight-channel NVR customers can mount in structured wiring can or rack shelf, and compatible accessories. The system integrates quickly and complete as part of a whole-house or property ELAN intelligent system.

“We are kicking off 2020 with some great updates to the award-winning ELAN surveillance line, providing a faster install for dealers and rich features for homeowners-- from receiving a push message when a vehicle is detected, to setting privacy mask area right in the ELAN app,” NSC
